xviii p., 11. 402 p. front. (facsim.) 22^{cm}.

"First edition."
When Albert Bigelow Paine published his two-volume edition of Mark Twain's Autobiography in 1924, he used something less than half of the typescript in which everything that Mark Twain in his memoirs had been brought together. This book uses about half of the remainder. It has been selected, rearranged, and to some extent edited.—Intro.

"One of the important activities of the year has been the reorganization, with a view to publication, of the reports accepted by the Conference, April 23, 1928, and approved by the Study Committee. One of these, the Report of the Committee on adult education, was distributed early in the year. The other four reports of committees—on research and graduate instruction, on exchange of service, on art, music, and the drama, and on the training of teachers—are incorporated in this volume."—Annual report for 1928, p. 12.

Studies in German literature in the nineteenth century, by John Firman Coar. ... New York, The Macmillan company;

London, Macmillan & co., ltd., 1908.

2 p. l., 401 p. 18".

The present volume of studies is not a history of German literature in the nineteenth century. It is an attempt to trace the elements of democratic thought in some characteristic forms of this literature.
